THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

The Republican National Convention meets at St. Louis to-day for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice President and declaring the position of the party on the financial question, which is agitating the public mind from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic to the Pacific. The convention will consist of 903 delegates, and as the majority rule prevails in Republican conventions, 454 delegates will control and name the candidates and dictate the principles of the party. It is conceded that a large majority of the delegates are for McKinley, and while it is probable that Reed, Morton, Quay, Allison and others may be placed in nomination to give orators opportunity to air their eloquence, it is possible that McKinley may be nominated by acclamation.

There were contesting delegations from nearly all the Southern States and from a few districts in the North. These were all disposed of in a manner favorable to McKinley by the National Committee. It is possible that some of the contestants who were refused seats by the National Committee may appeal to the Committee on Credentials, and failing there bring the matter before the convention. Every State will have a member of its delegation on each of the principal committees, such as Credentials, Platform and Order of Business. This will give the delegations admitted to seats by the National Committee a decided advantage over the contestants who were ignored by the committee.

It is conceded that the gold men will have a four-fifths or even greater majority in the convention. They are, according to all accounts, intent on having a straight, unequivocal declaration for gold and against the free coinage of silver in the platform. Heretofore they were satisfied with a straddle, but now having an overwhelming majority in the convention will declare emphatically for gold.

It is surmised that the real friends of silver under the leadership of Senator Teller of Colorado will withdraw from the convention when a gold platform is adopted. It is not expected that the Nevada or California delegations will follow Teller, as they, with possibly one or two exceptions, prefer office to free coinage, but the Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Utah delegations are said to be made of sterner stuff and prefer general prosperity to federal pie or party names.

As Major McKinley is somewhat superstitious he does not desire to be nominated on Friday. In deference to his wishes it is probable that he will be nominated on Thursday and that the convention will complete its labors and adjourn the next day, and the cry of "McKinley, sound money and protection" will be echoed by every goldbug in the United States before the close of the week.

A COWARDLY CONGRESS.

The First Session of the present Congress was, perhaps, the most cowardly legislative body that ever convened in the United States. Speaker Reed, who acquired a reputation as presiding officer of the Fifty-First Congress for bravery, showed the white feather on several occasions in the present Congress. Probably the change in his demeanor was owing to the fact that he imagined himself a candidate for President, and avoided everything that he considered offensive to those to whom he looked for support.

He did not hesitate to defeat the free coinage bill passed by the Senate, nor to pass the River and Harbor bill appropriating $76,000,000 from the public treasury, at a time when bonds have to be issued every few months to furnish gold for Europe. He felt that New England and New York bondholders were opposed to the free coinage bill, and that a majority of the Congressional districts were getting a part of the appropriation or "a slice of the pork," as Congressman Hepburn of Iowa expressed it. But when it came to the railroad funding bill and the Senate bill to prohibit the further issuance of bonds, he faltered and stopped.

The Government, with considerable over $200,000,000 available cash in the Treasury, issues bonds whenever the gold reserve gets below $100,000,000. The greenbacks, treasury notes and silver notes in the Treasury are not considered good enough for Government creditors. They want gold, and the policy of the Democratic Administration and of Mr. Reed's Congress is to pay them in gold, and mortgage the country to get the gold. To stop this the Senate passed a bill to prohibit the issuance of bonds without the consent of Congress. Senator Sherman, and in fact, every "sound money" Republican and Democrat in the Senate voted against the bill. The bill went to the House, however, and a caucus of the party in power was held to determine the most effective method of showing its disapproval of the measure, and it decided in favor of ignoring it altogether. The members were afraid to go on record on the question, for if they voted in its favor they would displease the gold trust, and if they voted against it they would displease the people, so they acted cowardly and did not vote for or against it.

It has been asked what good Congress did the country at its recent session, and the answer has been "none whatever," and no one questions the truth of the reply. It appropriated $518,000,000 for expenditures for one year, at a time, when bonds are being issued every few months to maintain the gold standard, and property, because of the appreciation of gold, is decreasing in value at the rate of 20 per cent per annum.

IGNORING PARTY LINES.

The gold men of the East announce that they will ignore party lines in the coming campaign. The financial question is the paramount issue and the gold men propose to vote together at the polls as their representatives have done in Congress. Don M. Dickinson, Mr. Cleveland's lieutenant, Mr. Carlisle and the President himself will vote for the Republican candidate. The Boston Herald publishes a communication from a life-long Democrat, who says he will vote for the party, regardless of its name, which, without any equivocation, declares for the gold standard.

As the contest will be on the money question, will Nevada Republicans who claim to be for free coinage support a party that is for gold, and gold only? Will those whose property is depreciating in value as money becomes scarcer, the farmer who has to sell twice as much of the products of his labor for a dollar which will pay no more debts than one which cost him one-half less of his products, the laborer who has to work twice as many hours if he is fortunate enough to get employment at all for a dollar, clinging to a party which if successful will favor the policy of maintaining the gold standard? What can be expected from an administration that will simply substitute Sherman for Carlisle in the Treasury Department and that, as Teller says, cannot change tariff schedules, even if that would afford relief to the masses, for at least four years?

Result of an Old Feud.

ROSEBURG, Or., June 25.—James Dixon, the 18-year-old son of J. R. Dixon, a wealthy farmer, living at North Umpqua, shot and killed Rice, aged 25 years yesterday afternoon. The affair occurred at a baseball game at Blaine valley, fifteen miles east of Roseburg. The shooting resulted from an old feud. The immediate cause of the trouble was over the ball game. Rice undertook to whip Dixon and pulled off his coat and started toward him, when Dixon drew a revolver and shot Rice in the breast. Rice turned and ran a few feet and was shot again in the back. He fell and expired almost immediately. Young Dixon was brought to Roseburg last night by the Constable.

Want Gold in the Plank

St. Louis, June 15.—A battle is being waged by the delegations on the financial plank. Platt of New York wants an unequivocal declaration for the gold standard, with the word "gold" in the plank, and thirteen States have decided to stand by him on the proposition.

Platt has been chosen Chairman of the New York delegation, receiving 57 votes to 12 for Warner Miller. Some of the delegates characterized Miller as a chronic growler.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

President Cleveland has gone fishing to Leesburg, Virginia.

Eastern delegates at St. Louis are placarding the city with flaming yellow posters, inscribed with the words "We are for gold."

Hanna, McKinley's manager, would not talk with Lodge of Massachusetts on the financial plank, and the New York delegation.

St. Vincent's Sanitarium, conducted by the Sisters of Charity and crowded with patients at Santa Fe, New Mexico, was burned Sunday night. The loss is $100,000; insurance $8,000.

Two sticks of dynamite were exploded under the house of Captain Goldsborough of the Chapin mine at Iron Mountain, Michigan. The house was wrecked, but the inmates were not injured.

A poll of the delegates at St. Louis shows 310 for the gold standard with the word gold in the plank; against free coinage of silver, without mentioning gold, 338; for free coinage, 72; doubtful, 50. California is counted as against silver.

Lodge claims to have won over to Reed the most of the colored delegates from the South. They say they have been badly treated by the McKinley managers. Hanna, believing that he owns the Convention, is getting arrogant and insolent.

The Colorado delegation at St. Louis bears aloft a "Free Silver" banner. The delegates elected Senator Teller Chairman and he was also chosen to represent the State on the Committee on Resolutions. A resolution was adopted to follow his leadership.

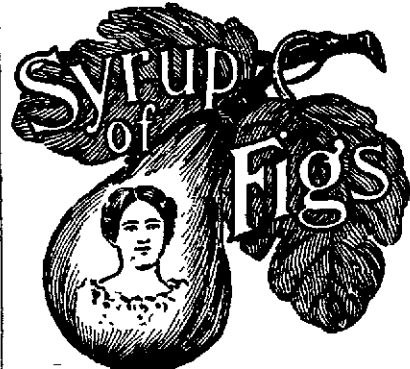

O. W. Mayre, a stockbroker, well known on the Comstock, committed suicide at the Baldwin Hotel, San Francisco, by shooting himself through the head. He left a note stating that ill health and poor prospects caused him to take his life. He had been afflicted with stomach troubles for some time.

THE MODERN BEAUTY

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercises in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs. Made by the California Fig Syrup Company.

BORN.
KELLY—At Kelly's ranch, near Reno, June 15, 1896, to the wife of James P. Kelly, a son.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

A BRAVE ACT.

Ed. Barber Dashes Into the River and Saves Mrs. J. B. Thomas and Her Little Girl From Drowning.

About 8 o'clock Sunday evening residents along Riverside Avenue and promenade along the bank of the river were startled by the screaming of women and the shouts of men. Ed. Barber ran out of his house and Mr. F. H. Norcross also hurried out and it was discovered that a woman and a little girl were out in the stream struggling and being rapidly carried toward the Riverside Mill Co.'s dam.

Without a moment's hesitation Ed. Barber threw off his coat and vest and took a header into the river, intending to reach a point below the drowning persons. When he came to the surface he found them below him and drifting with the terrible current. He struck out and soon had hold of them, but now came the battle, the suction of the dam was drawing them further out into the stream, and Ed. fought like a wild man to land his burdens. He reached a boom, but was too exhausted to do more and could only hold the woman and child against the boom until those on shore could aid him. Mr. Norcross hurried out on the boom and helped Ed., and Mrs. Norcross, Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Shearer, with the help of others, dragged the woman and child on shore.

They were both more dead than alive and were immediately taken to Mr. Barber's residence and everything possible done for their comfort. The little girl was soon out of danger, but the lady, who proved to be Mrs. Thomas, was in a critical condition for some time. Dr. W. A. Phillips was called and soon relieved the lady.

Mrs. Thomas was disinclined to give any particulars regarding the circumstance and she was allowed to rest until yesterday. Rumors were flying about town that it was an attempt at suicide and that it was a case of domestic trouble, etc. That Mr. Thomas treated his family cruelly and so on. Mr. Thomas in a conversation with the JOURNAL representative yesterday stated that he never had ill-treated his family. That there were times when perhaps he spoke harshly and impatiently, but not to the extent to be called cruelty and at no time had he ever raised a hand in anger towards his wife. He says that Mrs. Thomas at times is inclined to hysteria, and it is probable that during a temporary aberration of her mind caused from this trouble she made the attempt at self-destruction.

The little girl simply said that mamma told her that she was tired of life and wanted to go and take her with her. Mrs. Thomas deeply regretted the circumstance yesterday and dreaded the notoriety as well as the humiliation and mortification that the act was sure to cause her and her friends. She said it all seemed like a dream to her, and she wanted to leave the town. Her father, Mr. Clarke, said he had known her to act strangely at times before, but never knew her to try such a terrible thing as suicide.

Mr. Barber proved himself a hero. Not one man in a thousand would have taken the risk that he did. He saved the two lives and perhaps turned the current in the home life of a family who will always feel grateful to him for the brave act he performed Sunday evening.

GRAND ENCAMPMENT.

The I. O. O. F. Meet in Annual Session and Will Continue for Three Days.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows opened in annual session yesterday, the Right Worthy Grand Encampment being called to order at the Odd Fellows' hall by R. C. Leeper, Grand Patriarch. The reports of the Grand officers were presented and the various committees followed, after which the election of officers for the ensuing year took place. They are as follows: Grand Chief Patriarch, F. C. Uppike, Reno; W. H. Trathair, Virginia, Grand High Priest; Archie Steele, Wadsworth; Grand Senior Warden; L. Guggenheim, Virginia, Grand Scribe; J. J. Becker, Reno, Grand Treasurer; G. Gregovich, Eureka, Junior Warden; Trustees, Wm. Pennington and Henry Shade, Virginia; and W. W. Booher, Elko.

Routine work occupied the balance of the day. The Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. will convene at the same hall this morning.

ABSOLUTELY PURE*BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS.

They Met Yesterday and Transacted Both Town and County Business.

The Board of Commissioners met yesterday as a town board, all being present. The communication from the Fire Trustees relative to the various sites considered for the new engine house was filed and action postponed.

The board now adjourned as a town board and considered the following: The bill of $170 for lawyer's fees claimed by Henry Anderson at the last meeting, and the same having been vetoed by Auditor Shearer and returned, was taken up and passed over the Auditor's veto. In connection with this matter the board went back to the minutes of the 20th of May 1895, and finding that the record was not according to their understanding, either at the time or later, made it read to suit the occasion. The minutes of that day read that the matter was referred to the District Attorney, "the board taking no further action." (Just think of it, over a year ago.) Now the minutes have been corrected to suit the emergency, and the $170 for special attorneys fees is again ordered paid. The correction reads as follows:

"The Board of County Commissioners agree with Henry Anderson that Washoe county will pay the actual necessary cost of prosecuting a suit in the name of Henry Anderson vs. Storey county authorities to determine the right of Storey county to assess and collect taxes on sheep owned by Henry Anderson and other residents of Washoe county and pastured for a few months in Storey county."

The State and county tax on these sheep amounted to $38, of which the county receives $20, and pay $170 for attorneys to collect it. How is that for economy.

A petition was presented to the board protesting against the retailing of liquors by the drug stores and grocery men in town without paying the retail license required of saloon keepers. The petition was placed on file and the Chief of Police directed to look into the matter and collect the town retail license and the Sheriff directed to enforce the county license.

The Auditor presented his veto message disapproving of the allowance of the several claims for the retail fling cases amounting to $1,036 30 balance. The board passed the claims over the Auditor's veto by a unanimous vote.

The report of E. B. Monroe in relation to the sewer system in Reno was received and filed.

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. E. Hood, Broker and Manufacturers Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a cough remedy. J. D. Brown, proprietor of St. James Hotel, Fort Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail, and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 E. 25th street, Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of croup because it instantly relieves. Free trial bottles at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

A Cutting Affray.

P. Perla and A. Pedro became involved in a dispute in front of the Italian saloon on Lake street night before last. Both had been drinking, and Pedro insisted on Perla taking another. The latter declined and hot words passed. Pedro got ugly and was determined to make the other man drink, and was pushed away several times until Perla grew tired of it and made a slash at Pedro with a knife, cutting his face from the forehead down through the nose and upper lip. Dr. P. T. Phillips patched him up. There were no arrests, as the men were really friends and now regret the trouble.

Arm Broken.

Joseph Eason, a young man 25 years of age, had his right arm broken at the wrist at the Nevada ranch, about two miles west of town, yesterday morning. He was at work for his father, Robt. Eason, and was engaged in lassoing a colt. The rope caught and tripped him and he fell forward and broke his arm. Dr. Gibson was called to the ranch and he reduced the fracture and left the young man as comfortable as the circumstances would permit.

Some tramps who were ejected from Frisco's saloon last night gathered some car links and coupling pins and made an onslaught on the house. They threw the missiles through a large window, entirely demolishing it. Had they thrown them through the window next to the one they attacked they would have thrown them into the room occupied by his family. Officer Higgins captured the miscreants, and they are now in jail.

WINNEMUCCA NOTES.

Condensed News of the Gala Week.

Winnemucca, June 18, 1896.

EDITOR JOURNAL: Winnemucca's gala week has come to an end. People's faces show plainly that they are in sore need of rest after going through so much excitement. Masons and Pythian Knights had their regular yearly reunions. They were wine and dined and generally entertained in a royal manner. Without exception they cannot help but take to their homes the most pleasant recollections of good fellowship on the part of this community. By far the majority of Masons left on Thursday, only those remaining who were also delegates to the Grand Lodge of K. of C. P. Washoe county sent quite a large contingent. The following Knights attended, viz: J. E. Bray, Supreme Representative of Nevada; J. F. Aitken and N. A. Hummel, Past Grand Chancellors; L. J. Cohn, Jno. P. Dennis, Sam Hodgkinson, John F. George and J. F. Condon. The latter left yesterday on a business trip to Salt Lake City.

The newly elected Grand Officers, to serve during the ensuing year: J. D. Torreyson, Carson, Grand Chancellor; W. D. Jones, Lander, Vice Chancellor; A. B. Stoddard, Storey, Keeper of Records and Seal; L. J. Cohn, Washoe, Prelate; C. D. Ziegler, Storey, Master-at-Arms. E. E. Winfrey, Humboldt, Master of Exchequer; John F. George, Washoe, Inner Guard; J. C. Slater, Lander, Outer Guard; J. F. Condon, Washoe, Trustee.

Elko was selected as the place of meeting of the next Grand Lodge.

In honor of the visiting Knights, who were accorded the choicest seats, the local dramatic company played "The Henrietta," a lively and high grade comedy to a well filled and enthusiastic house, at Armory Hall. They compare favorably, indeed, with our own Reno combination. They are the kind of people who would not be afraid to give credit to outsiders, should credit be due. This last remark refers to the contemplated production of "Damon and Pythias," by the Reno amateurs, for which Ben Currier, Jr., the star actor of that troupe, is the writer's authority. Our visiting townsmen will also bear me out in the assertion, that the Winnemucca string orchestra is the peer of any other in this State.

In the famous water suit, entitled Bliss vs. Dunphy, which has been pending for the past six years, Judge Fitzgerald, sitting in Judge Cheney's court, rendered his decision to-day in favor of plaintiff. General R. M. Clarke of Carson was in attendance.

C. P. Agent Kitts received a telegram from Sacramento to the effect that Joe Knowles is so far recovered as to be able to testify before the Humboldt Grand Jury, which meets here on Monday, the 15th inst.

Many of Them Are Great Swells, Wear Fine Clothes, Live Like Rich Men and Want to Be Gentlemen—An Ex-Detective Explains Their Little Game.

Leaning against the bar in one of the fashionable cafes up town the other night was a man who until recently was one of the brightest detectives in the police department. He had covered himself with glory on more than one occasion under the administration of Superintendent Thomas F. Byrnes, but when the shake up in the department came and he was obliged to go he did so without the least feeling of regret.

He did not look like a detective as he stood idly puffing at his cigar. He appeared like a man of the world who had just left a theater or dinner party.
Not until he was greeted by a Press reporter did he arouse from a reverie he seemed to be in.

"In every city on the face of the earth," said the ex-sleuth, "that has any pretensions to being cosmopolitan there is to be found a certain class of men who live by their wits, and in living by their wits they do it in a manner that does not place them within the reach of the law, although their methods are far from being honorable. They are a nasty, vicious class of men, beside whom a highway robber or a petty sneak thief is the embodiment of all that is good and decent. Right here in New York that peculiar class of men flourish as they do in no other city in the world, and they go on unhindered from one year's end to another. Most of them are imbued with a desire to become rich and be gentlemen. That may strike you as being peculiar, but it is nevertheless a fact. These men are known to the police as grafters, and they give a good deal more trouble to the authorities than ten times as many honest criminals.

"See that well dressed, nice looking fellow who is sitting over there in an attitude of studied carelessness, eying the elderly man standing at the cigar lighter? That fellow is a grafter. He dresses like, looks like and talks and acts like a gentleman, and yet it seems to me not more than ten years ago that he was a $5 clerk in a real estate office.
His people are very poor and never were able to provide him with any of the luxuries in which he indulges himself nowadays. Yet he can now go into a fashionable restaurant and order a splendid meal from a bill of fare that is printed in French. He is not well up in literature and avoids the subject very cleverly if it is introduced. Still he is a hard student, devotes himself to a few selected books for several hours a day and in other ways tries to improve his mind and his manners."

"But how does he get his money?"
"He shakes dice. He is one of the greatest dice shakers in this country.
In fact, I don't believe he has an equal.
The plan he is going to follow now is this: provided he succeeds in making the acquaintance of the elderly man.
They will enter upon a general conversation, in which he holds his own. They have several drinks. Drinking becomes intoxicating, and they drift out in the street together. Does he tell the old man that he is a stranger in New York? Not at all. He says he has been here all his life. He had an engagement to meet some friends at the hotel, but they disappeared. He comes to another fashionable cafe and asks the old man to have a drink. He drinks whiskey, but the drink is usually small. Perhaps if he gets too many he will lose one on the dice. As they go from one place to another the places will deteriorate, and finally the old man having had a sufficient number of drinks to make him woody, the last place will be one in which Mr. Grafter has a dice box planted."

"What do you mean by planted?"
"By that I mean that the barkeeper is a friend of the grafter and keeps behind the bar special dice and a special dice box to be used on special occasions.
This is one of the special occasions. Perhaps I should explain to you that in order to manipulate a dice box, or rather the dice, the inside of the box must be perfectly smooth. That is because the grafter holds one or more of the dice in his fingers and places it in the box in such a way that it will slide out of the box right side up when the proper time comes.

"Some of the dice shakers have celluloid boxes planted, and this, with a square set of dice, makes the sliding process an easy matter. But celluloid is likely to excite suspicion, so the leather boxes are most commonly in use among dice shakers who are clever at their business. A man who is clever at his business can shake out four aces in poker dice as easily as he can eat his dinner. Not only that, but he defies detection in the doing of it. He would be caught by one of his own class, or rouse, but the ordinary man would have no reason for suspecting that everything was not right.

"The dice box having been produced, they shake for drinks, and finally it is proposed that they shake for money.
Perhaps the old man will not want to bet. If he doesn't and can't be persuaded to, well and good. The grafter has been affable and courteous all the time and continues so. Before they part company, however, it is a pretty sure thing that the grafter has borrowed of the old fellow about what he had spent for drinks, promising of course to pay it back.

"The chances are about even that the old man will bet something, and if he does he loses it, of course, in which case he is jolted enough to make him take the thing good naturedly.

"The clever grafter is not a mean fellow. If the old fellow went broke and the amount of the loan asked was reasonable, the shark would give it to him."—New York Press.

The Maudie Cat.
My blue Persian cat is a gentle, sentimental creature, slightly inclined to melancholy and, strangely, even troublesome, affectionate to one or two select friends. She had been accustomed from the time I first had her—last summer—to be continually with me, generally on my lap or shoulder. When the winter evenings began to draw on, I took to playing the piano, which I had not done during the summer. The cat could not understand why, when this was going on, she was not allowed to take up her usual position. In order, I suppose, to show her disapproval of my occupation, she would continually climb up either on to me or the piano and pat my hands with her paws, and pull them off the keys—very gently and without scratching at all. This became such a nuisance that I could not play unless I put her out of the room, but she would sit outside and howl, and when any one opened the door she would rush in and begin to meow. At last I thought of a way of treating her—viz, like a rational being.
I placed a chair next to the music stool, as though for a duet, and put her on it, and explained the matter to her, and from that time I have had no further trouble, unless I forget to put her chair for her when I begin to play.—London Spectator Correspondence.

For your Protection.—Ocular "Cure" or Cataract in liquid form to be taken internally, usually causing either Mercury or Iodide of Potash, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Cataract is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat.
Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of cataract will follow; severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and oftentimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.
